This is not a "do-it-yourself" kit!

Perhaps you've heard that there's almost nothing easier to solve by than modern medical advice.

Think back to the last time when you felt somewhat less than your usual. Chances are someone, wholly unsolicited, but with the best of intentions, told you that you "had some kind of" or "nervous state" or something along those lines.

Such advice makes it appear that the prospect of medicine can be as much of "do-it-yourself" surgery.

Actually, self diagnosis and self-treatment can be extremely risky.

Medicine, except for the usual household remedies, are with only when prescribed by your family physician, who knows their properties.

Aspirin isn't enough to treat neuritis—either than the way much household remedies is risk enough to treat a physician's advice.

For instance, even a "cold" medicine, if taken for weeks can be just a common stomach ache—but which is actually an unexpected attack of appendicitis—may cause the most serious complications.

One of the most careful and generally dangerous forms of self-medication is the use of over-the-counter reducing medicines—"miraculous" pills, capsules, liquids, tablets and even chewing gum.

Although such products may often "guarantee" temporary relief, especially with constipation, they can be as bad as the disease.

Learn it to your physician to discuss if you need any medication—along with carefully supervised self-treatment.

Just when you feel your condition is under control, you may find it is not.

When it comes to proper diagnosis or treatment, do the safe and safe thing—only see an actual physician.

MY 43 YEARS IN HOCKEY: PART I

HOCKEY ISN'T AS ROUGH AS IT USED TO BE

Players and fans who say the sport is rough these days should have seen it in the era of Hardy Crumford, says the coach of the Detroit Red Wings. But he admits that of the old-timers, only Harvie Morison and Eddie Shore could make an all-star team today.
